Facing Our Selves Savior,

It is perhaps the most powerful of Jesus' parables – offering, as it were, something for everyone. For all of us have at one time found ourselves in this Prodigal-Son parable: as the wayward son, the self-righteous brother, or the grumbling Pharisee. The greater joy is that we also see a picture of our God's supporting love – in the giving and forgiving Father, whose love covers a multitude of sins and griefs. Here, a Father's love would receive that which was burdened and lost, and feast with that which is found. Here, as we face one another, even what may seem to be the most lost, is joyously found in the shadow of the cross, and the Grace that rains down upon us all.
